

Discussion Rubric

Use to score any discussion post · 5 criteria · 4 points each · 20 points total

Criterion	4 · Exemplary	3 · Proficient	2 · Developing	1 · Beginning	Score
Position 4 points	States a clear, specific position that fully answers the question.	States a clear position that answers most of the question.	Position is vague or answers only part of the question.	No clear position, or the post does not answer the question.	___ / 4
Evidence 4 points	Uses two or more specific, accurate pieces of evidence from the case and clearly explains how each one supports the point. Any outside source is credible, named, and connected back to the case.	Uses two specific, accurate pieces of evidence from the case, but the explanation of how they support the point is brief or partly unclear.	Uses only one piece of evidence from the case, or the evidence is general or inaccurate.	No evidence from the case.	___ / 4
Depth of Thinking 4 points	Considers another point of view or a real tradeoff and responds to it thoughtfully.	Mentions another point of view but does not fully respond to it.	Presents only one side of the issue.	Restates the question or offers little original thinking.	___ / 4
Replies to Classmates 4 points	Replies to two or more classmates; each reply adds something new: a respectful challenge, new evidence, or a question that develops their thinking. Responds to classmates who replied to their own post.	Replies to two classmates, and both replies add a relevant point.	Replies to only one classmate, or replies only agree or praise.	No replies.	___ / 4
Language 4 points	Clear, professional English throughout, with accurate use of module vocabulary.	Mostly clear and professional, with minor errors that do not affect meaning.	Frequent informal language or errors that sometimes make the meaning unclear.	Language is too informal or unclear for an academic discussion.	___ / 4
Total					___ / 20

18–20
Exceeds Standard

14–17
Meets Standard

10–13
Approaching Standard

9 or below
Below Standard

A post with no replies cannot score above Approaching Standard.